LEAD-SAFE HOUSING REGISTRY

This registry is a listing of lead-safe housing units in New Jersey. It is compiled from reports received from licensed lead evaluation contractors, various housing resources and local health departments.

Housing units are listed in one of four categories:

Lead Free: This category includes dwelling units that have no lead-based paint. Some are dwelling units constructed after January 1, 1978, the date when the Consumer Product Safety Commission banned residential use of lead-based paint. This category also includes housing found to be free of lead-based paint by a certified lead evaluation contractor. In New Jersey, firms performing inspections for lead-based paint must be certified by the Department of Community Affairs. The list of certified evaluation (inspection) firms may be found on the Department's website at http://www.nj.gov/dca/codes/code\_services/lead\_evaluation\_contractors.pdf

Lead Abated: This category includes dwelling units where lead hazards have been addressed in some permanent way. This includes the removal of lead-based paint or the removal of doors, windows or other building components painted with lead-based paint, the encapsulation of lead-based paint with a sealant (not another paint) or the enclosure of lead-based paint with a permanent covering, such as sheetrock. The lead abatement may not have included all of the lead-based paint within a building. It is important to ask about where lead abatement was performed and where it was not (the scope of work.)

In New Jersey, lead abatement must be done by a firm certified by the Department of Community Affairs to perform this work. The list of certified firms may be found on the Department's website at http://www.nj.gov/dca/codes/code\_services/lead\_abatement\_contractors.pdf

Lead Hazard Controlled: This category includes dwellings units with lead-based paint that was intact and in a safe condition at the time of the inspection. "Lead hazard controlled" includes dwelling units where there is lead-based paint, but that paint is not chipping or peeling. In these dwelling units, lead hazards have been addressed, but not in a permanent way. It is important that the paint in these dwelling units be maintained. Prospective tenants or purchasers should ask when the last inspection was performed and look at the dwelling unit to be sure that there is no chipping or peeling paint.

Lead-Free Interior: This category includes dwelling units that have no lead-based paint on the interior. The "lead-free interior" applies to the dwelling units only. It does not necessarily include common areas of the building (entryways, halls, laundry rooms, etc.) It is important for prospective tenants or purchasers to ask which dwelling units have lead-free interiors and whether the common areas are lead-free. For windows and doors, "lead-free interior" applies to any part of the window or door that is accessible from inside when the window or door is closed.

The list is organized by municipality, street name, then street number. It includes the number of dwelling units reported as being lead-safe and the total number of dwelling units in the building or complex.

Note that the Department of Community Affairs makes every effort to ensure the accuracy of this list. It is, however, intended only as a guide, and it is incumbent upon a prospective tenant to request and review the lead-safe documentation in the possession of the landlord as to the lead-safe status of any particular housing unit before making any decisions.
